

Headlands to Creek - Postcard Vision

The Boardwalk

The popularity of the existing Boardwalk in Coolum suggests using the same design language for the rest of the coastline in front of the Village Centre.

- The heavy natural timber finish
- The wide comfortable graded pathway
- The unique well detailed balustrade and wide leaning rail
- The jetty like construction that gives the sense of floating over the cliff edge
- The functional attractive fence/balustrade keeping people off the fragile cliff edge
- Fabulous vantage points to appreciate the views available
- The language of the balustrades has incorporated excellent storyboards for temporary and permanent visual art projects

Project

11.6 Beach to Heart Track

The linear access route from the Village Center to the Beach should be addressed in the urban design plan both in the short term and long term.

The route created by the southern fence of the Caravan Park, across David Low Way and through the proposed portal (lane way) in one of the commercial development sites can direct pedestrians straight into the Civic Community space –Jack Morgan Park.

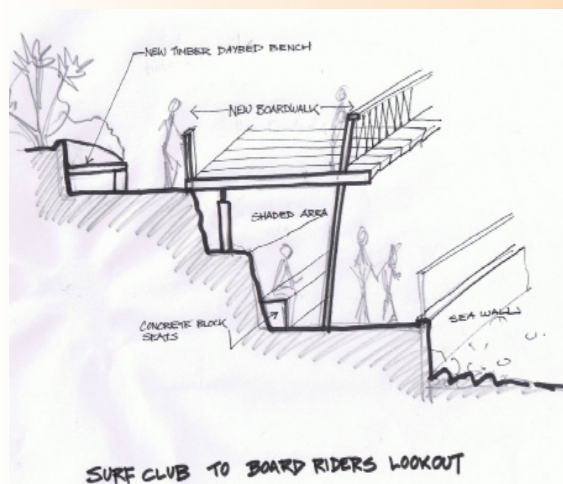

The short term suggestion is to acquire the parking bays along the caravan park fence line to Tickle Park and create a pedestrian path from the Beach, in front of the proposed Boardriders viewing platform, to David Low Way. It is suggested this path may incorporate an avenue of shade trees and another opportunity for an artist brief –ad-

Caravan Park fence line

Beach access path Lions Park

Project

11.5 The Surfclub Boardwalk and Ramp

It is recommended that design solutions using the boardwalk construction be explored to connect the path in front of the surf club, allowing the old concrete walkway to be adapted as a reclining ramp down to the beach for all person access.

Revitalising seat to the north of the surfclub.

Lower path Coolum Surf Club

artist brief –addressing camping and transient placemaking.

Coolum Surf Club and beach